TEACHING
TO REACH HONDURAS FOR CHRIST

Dear Friends and Family,

Thank you so much for your prayer for me the last several months. God has been doing a great work here in Honduras and I am so blessed to have been able to see Him work both through my life and the lives of my students.

During a Thursday night evangelism in the nearby town (pueblo), I had the privilege to speak with a young Catholic woman named Ninfa. She had never accepted God's free gift of salvation and continued to believe that her salvation was dependent on her works. After walking her through the plan of salvation and using the life of Paul as an example, Ninfa finally accepted Jesus as her personal Savior.

I was also blessed to have been brought to a town called Izcaya for the purpose of passing out tracts. There is where I found one of my students from years passed. Hiliany was in my class her third and fourth grade year, and she is now in the fifth grade. She had grown so much in the years I had been her teacher, but she had always struggled with knowing if her salvation was truly permanent. Praise the Lord she has that assurance now, and much of our conversation that night was over the Bible and how we can see the world changing just as God in His Word had told us. That's when she made it clear it is our job to go and let people know about Jesus before that time. I am so grateful that God has gotten a hold of her heart and pray that she may be the next missionary. She comes to church on our bus route every Sunday now.

January 2nd through 6th was our youth camp. We had about 200 young people come for the week, receiving messages about bitterness, standards, purity, and service. What a blessing it was to see the impact the week had on each young person!

School began again immediately after on the 9th of January. My 24 students have returned and are doing great. I am so excited to see where this year takes us. I know God is truly going to do something wonderful in each of them.

Please pray with me for each of my students to receive the Lord as their Savior and that the Lord will allow us to reach all the surrounding areas for Him.

Yours for Souls,

Elizabeth Boucher
